INTRODUCTION

This report deals specifically with the school year 1927-28, but in certain cases with decisions taken or results occurring down to the date of presentation.

The financial situation, as will be observed passim in the body of the report, has prevented any marked expansion of activities in the field of Arabic education, but a steady, if slow, improvement in the efficiency of the schools has been maintained.

The responsibility of the Government for Jewish education has been greatly increased by the augmentation of the grant-in-aid to the Palestine Zionist Executive and has imposed a considerable burden upon the small administrative and inspectoral staff of the Department.

The peculiar difficulties under which schools are organised in a voluntary system of education are becoming increasingly prominent owing to the steps taken to regularize the keeping of registers and the rendering of returns in all Palestinian schools. Special attention is here drawn to certain tentative observations, made in the final section of the report, upon the statistical information now available. The close study of these figures in successive future years is likely to have an important bearing upon educational policy.

DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

ANNUAL REPORT

FOR THE SCHOLASTIC YEAR

1927-28.

1. BUDGET.

Estimates of expenditure for 1928 amounted to £P.143,619 as against £P. 106,502 for nine months of 1927 (equivalent to an expenditure of £P.142,000 in 12 months). The increase was due, not to expansion of the educational system but to normal increments of salary and increased provision for railway fares and freight owing to the introduction of free railway warrants to officers proceeding on leave.

The revenue of the Department from fees and sale of books amounted to £P.2,736 as compared with £E.2,088 in 1926-27 and £E.2,219 for 9 months of 1927.

2. ADMINISTRATION.

The Director of Education left Palestine on leave to United Kingdom on 17th July, 1928. The Assistant Director of Education was absent on leave to United Kingdom from 2nd April to 29th June, 1928.

Two Jewish District Inspectors of Education were appointed, but only one assumed his duties before the end of the school year. These two officers are stationed provisionally at Headquarters, but one is responsible for Jewish Schools in the Northern District, the other for those in Jerusalem and the Southern District. Their salaries are met from the grant allotted by the Government to the Jewish Schools.

Certain minor changes in the District Inspectorate were effected during the summer of 1928. The Assistant Inspector for Samaria was transferred to Gaza, and was entrusted with the Headmastership of the Boys' School there in addition to his other work; the Assistant Inspector in Gaza being transferred to Jaffa, replacing a colleague transferred to Nablus.

The filing system in the Headquarters Office was completely overhauled and reorganised. The District Offices were inspected by the Director accompanied by the Chief Clerk, and the system of filing and accountancy brought into line with that adopted in the Head Office. The duties of the clerical staff have been re-arranged, and office routine has generally improved.

The reorganisation was necessitated by the wider activities of the Department, entailing a considerable increase in the volume of correspondence. During the calendar year of 1928 the number of letters received at Headquarters was 15,448 of which 13,163 were in English, 1,455 in Arabic and 830 in Hebrew. The number of letters despatched in the same period was 18,531 of which 15,625 were in English 1,502 in Arabic and 1,404 in Hebrew.

3. TRAINING AND SUPPLY OF TEACHERS.

A. GOVERNMENT ARAB COLLEGE (MEN'S TRAINING COLLEGE).

The former system under which male teachers were trained was completely abandoned as from the beginning of the school-year 1927-28. Aspirants were previously recruited for a prolonged course of secondary and professional studies pursued concurrently. The last class of such students passed out in July, 1927. Admission to training is now allowed only after the completion of the secondary course. For financial reasons the numbers at present are limited to those necessary for replacement of casualties in the existing cadre.

The training class is an integral part, and at present the highest section, of the Government Arab College.

Seven teachers passed out of the Men's Training College (Government Arab College) in July, 1928, and were appointed to higher elementary schools. The number admitted for training in 1928-29 was twelve.

In the training class Arabic and English literature are continued beyond the matriculation level, but other general subjects are studied only in connection with the elementary school syllabus. The course of pedagogy is practical rather than theoretical. Some attention is paid to psychology, but a greater part of the lesson time is given to practical training in methods of teaching and in class management.

Further information on the Government Arab College is given under Secondary Education (Section 4).

B. WOMEN'S ELEMENTARY TRAINING COLLEGE.

All new students to the college are admitted after passing an entrance examination. Out of 102 applicants from Palestine and 7 from Trans-Jordan, 15 were accepted in 1928, of these, four were admitted as scholars, the rest against full fees. Included in the 15 is one new student sent by the Government of Trans-Jordan, thus bringing the number of Trans-Jordan students in the college to three.

The college is still housed in the old premises, and as no more suitable building has yet been found in Jerusalem the lease of the main building has been extended till the end of August, 1931.

The table below gives the number of students in September, 1927, divided according to classes and religion:

Class.	Moslem.	Christian.	Total	Scholars or paying
				Scholars	Fee paying	Total
4th	11	4	15	14	1	15
3rd	8	9	17	11	6	17
2nd	7	4	11	3	8	11
1st	12	9	21	8	13	21
Total	38	26	64	36	28	64

Of fifteen students who entered for the diploma examination in July, 1928, thirteen passed and have since been appointed to teaching posts under the Department. One student was seconded for work in Trans-Jordan. The two who failed have also been given posts, but at a lower salary. The successful students will be awarded their diplomas after a year's service.

C. OTHER SOURCES OF SUPPLY.

It remains necessary to appoint untrained elementary teachers temporarily to emergency vacancies occurring from time to time. The source of supply is the foreign schools and the fourth secondary class of the Government Arab College. Owing to the general, if slow, improvement in education throughout the country, these teachers are often found superior to the products of the Turkish regime and many are continued in their employment subject to the application of efficiency bars.

No arrangements have yet been made for the training of secondary teachers. The majority of these are graduates of the American University of Beirut which provides optional courses of pedagogy in the Department of Arts and Sciences. It is understood that higher courses designed for secondary teachers will be arranged shortly. Palestine Government scholars are not encouraged to take courses in educational science at the expense of general subjects, and consequently can receive no serious training until post-graduate courses are provided.

D. EDUCATIONAL MISSIONS.

A number of students continue to be trained for the service of the Department at various institutions in Palestine and abroad other than the two Government Colleges referred to above.

Of the seven scholars studying last year in the American University of Beirut, one man and one woman graduated in June, 1928. The remaining five scholars are favourably reported on by the University authorities. Owing to the necessity for economy only one scholarship at the American University of Beirut was awarded in September, 1928. Thus the number of Government scholars now in residence there is six only, though the scholarship scheme provides for seven.

Very satisfactory reports have been received on the conduct and industry of the three Government scholars who are now following honours course at British Universities, but all experience in varying degrees the same difficulties arising from the change in methods of study and the requirement of a higher degree of proficiency in English than is expected in the English speaking schools of Palestine and the American University of Beirut where these scholars have already graduated. One of them is expected to take his degree at Oxford in 1929, but will remain for a further year to read for the B. Sc.

Of two Government scholars at the Helwan Women's Training College one stood first and the other second in a class of 27.

In addition to the above, three students receive scholarships at mission colleges and institutions in Palestine. Of two at the Scots College, Safad, one passed the Palestine Matriculation in June and was given an extension of his scholarship to enable him to study for the Palestine Diploma Intermediate examination.

The following table shows the distribution of scholars of the Education Mission abroad and in Palestine during the year under review:

I n s t i t u t i o n		R e l i g i o n			T o t a l
		Moslem	Christian	Bahai
England	Oxford	1	—	—	1
	London	1	—	—	1
	Cambridge . . .	1	—	—	1
Syria: American University, Beirut . .		3	3	1	7
Egypt: Helwan Training College . .		2	—	—	2
Palestine	Scots College, Safad . .	—	2	—	2
	Jerusalem Men's College . .	—	1	—	1
T o t a l		8	6	1	15

The award of scholarships offers certain difficulties. In assigning free places at the Government Arab College and Men's Training College which are undenominational, and scholarships at the American University of Beirut where attendance at Christian worship is not compulsory, no distinction of sect is allowed, but open scholarships at missionary colleges in Palestine which require Christian religious studies and exercises from all students, must be awarded with discretion.

4. SECONDARY EDUCATION.

A. GOVERNMENT ARAB COLLEGE.

In consequence of the reforms in the recruitment and training of teachers referred to in Section 3 and of the gradual development of the Men's Training College into a full secondary school, its title was changed in October, 1927, to "Government Arab College".

The majority of the pupils are admitted after completion of the first secondary cycle in the provincial day schools. Only the third and fourth secondary classes and the training class actually study in the college itself. Boarders in lower classes attend the Rashidiya, a neighbouring day school.

In 1927-28 the third class was divided into two sections of moderate size with a view to the easier adaptation of pupils entering from schools of varying efficiency. At the beginning of the year it was found that very wide divergences existed between entrants, but by the end of the year these differences had greatly diminished. A few boys were removed and the unification of the two sections into one fourth class for the succeeding year became possible.

A few places were assigned to pupils from provincial day schools with less than two secondary classes. These attend lessons at the Rashidiya school.

The following table shows the number of students in September, 1927:—

Class	Religion		Total
	Moslem	Christian
5th	6	2	8
4th	20	5	25
3rd	28	4	32
2nd	2	2	4
1st	4	3	7
Total:	60	16	76

Scholars and fee paying students.

Class	Boarders				Day Scholars			Grand Total
	Full Scholars	Half fees	Full Fees	Total	Free	Fee paying	Total
5th	8	—	—	8	—	—	—	8
4th	6	6	10	22	3	—	3	25
3rd	11	3	11	25	7	—	7	32
2nd	1	2	1	4	—	—	—	4
1st	—	3	4	7	—	—	—	7
Total:	26	14	26	66	10	—	10	76

For the third year in succession the students of the 4th year were entered for the Palestine Matriculation examination. Out of twenty-four who sat twelve passed.

There was a high positive correlation between the comparative merit of the candidates as assessed by the external examiners and as assessed by the College staff throughout the year. This is satisfactory, for it is only within the last three years that the teachers have begun to appreciate the necessity of method and precision in the formulation of their judgments on the work of students.

In September, 1928, the fees for new boarders at the Government Arab College were raised from LP.21 to LP.24 per annum. Day students now pay LP.6 per annum. The boarder's fee covers only the cost of food, lighting and heating. Tuition to boarders continues to be entirely free.

The College is still housed in three rented buildings which are very unsatisfactory. In July, 1928, the playing field attached to the College was sold by the landlord in building lots and the provision of facilities for recreation became very difficult. In consequence an expenditure of LP.20,000 on the purchase of site and erection of buildings was sanctioned by the Secretary of State.

B. WOMEN'S ELEMENTARY TRAINING COLLEGE.

Fee-paying students are admitted with no obligation to become teachers. They receive a higher elementary and lower secondary education. The level of female education is still low as compared with that of boys, but the students of the girls' college, within their range of acquirement, are more precise and orderly than the boys.

C. PROVINCIAL DAY SCHOOLS.

During the year under review a second secondary class was opened at Ramleh Boys' School. The total number of students in secondary classes in July, 1928, was 378 including those at the Government Arab College and the two top classes of the Women's Elementary Training College, thus showing an increase of 77 over the figures for July, 1927.

Arrangements were made to open a second secondary class in Safad Elementary Boys' School at the beginning of the school year 1928-29.

The first secondary cycle of two years was thus completed in all the principal day schools. The third secondary class in Jaffa was continued in 1927-28 but continues to be of a lower level than the corresponding class in the Government Arab College.

The fee payable for secondary education in day schools has been raised to LP. 3 per annum, irrespective of class. Free places are given to poor students and to dependents of teachers.

Arabic continues to be the medium of instruction in all secondary classes.

The teaching staff was strengthened by the addition of six graduates of the American University of Beirut in September, 1927. Five more were engaged in the summer of 1928 for the succeeding school year.

There are no Government day schools providing secondary education for girls.

5. ELEMENTARY EDUCATION.

The twenty-five additional teaching posts provided in the estimates for 1927 and referred to in the Annual Report for 1926-27 became available at the beginning of the school year under review and most were assigned to elementary schools or classes.

In September, 1927, upwards of 5,000 new pupils were admitted to Government Schools, while about 2,000 were refused admission for lack of accommodation.

The number of elementary schools at the end of the school session 1927-28 was 314 of which 51 were in towns.

The following village schools were closed during the year on account of unsatisfactory attendance or inadequate buildings; —

NORTHERN DISTRICT:

GALILEE:

Daishum, Safad Sub-District.
Jesh, Safad Sub-District.
'Aulam, Safad Sub-District.
Ijzem Girls' School, Haifa Sub-District.
Ijzem Boys' School, Haifa Sub-District.
Qusra, Nablus Sub-District.
Jaba', Jenin Sub-District.

SAMARIA:

SOUTHERN DISTRICT:

Tel-al-Safi, Hebron Sub-District,

JERUSALEM DISTRICT:

Bait Fajjar, Bethlehem Sub-District.

The failure of attendance in certain village schools cannot always be attributed to diminution of interest in education. It has been found that village boys very rarely remain at school more than four years and somewhat less than half of those who enter complete even three years, but at its first opening a school is attended by pupils, the range of whose ages may be six or seven years. When the supply of old and backward pupils to low classes has been exhausted the normal annual intake is sometimes insufficient to justify the maintenance of the school. This circumstance has not always been regarded by District Inspectors of Education when calculating probable attendance.

The following new schools were opened:—

NORTHERN DISTRICT:

GALILEE:	Ja'neh, Safad Sub-District.
	Taitaba, Safad Sub-District.
	Kufr Yasif Girls' School, Acre Sub-District.
SAMARIA:	Nil.

SOUTHERN DISTRICT:

Edna, Hebron Sub-District.

JERUSALEM DISTRICT:

Bethlehem Girls' School.

The marked interest in education shown by many villages was continued and considerable sums of money were collected by voluntary subscriptions for the erection of new school buildings or for carrying out repairs.

The following villages erected new school buildings during the year:—

NORTHERN DISTRICT:

		Cost,
		LP.	LP.
GALILEE:	'Alma, Safad Sub-District	150
	Farradeh, Safad Sub-District	150

Total: 2921

Funds were also raised as follows in various towns and villages for the purpose of building or repairing school premises:

NORTHERN DISTRICT:

GALILEE :	LP.1,119.573
SAMARIA :	LP.2,160.041
SOUTHERN DISTRICT :	LP. 623.170
JERUSALEM DISTRICT :	LP.1,750.000
	LP.5,652.784

Village boys after completion of their village school course sometimes transfer themselves to the nearest large town for further education at the Government elementary-secondary school and provide for their own maintenance under somewhat adverse conditions. Accordingly in Nablus a small committee was formed in 1925 under the chairmanship of the District Officer and undertook to raise funds from the inhabitants of the town of Nablus as well as from the neighbouring villages for the purpose of erecting a hostel for these students. The sum of LP.736.654 was raised but the amount is not yet sufficient for the purpose.

In July, 1928, a departmental committee was instructed to formulate a syllabus of four years lower elementary education in village schools. This period is considered the minimum necessary for the attainment of permanent literacy by the normal child, but at present it appears that considerably less than half the village children who enter school complete a fourth year.

Elementary education continues to be free, except in the Mamuniya Girls' School, Jerusalem, and the Ramallah Boys' and Girls' Schools where a small fee is charged. Free places at the Mamuniya School are allotted to dependents of Government teachers.

In July, 1928, 287 pupils completed the 6th Elementary class in Government Boys' Schools. Of this number about 190 are continuing their studies in Government schools and 23 in other secondary schools. Of the remainder most have found public or private employment and only very few are known to be without work of any kind.

Other figures connected with elementary education in towns and villages are considered later in the introduction to the statistical tables.

6. TECHNICAL EDUCATION.

The technical sections of the Jaffa, Hebron, Nablus, and Acre Secondary Schools continue to provide instruction in various trades. Sets of carpentry tools were issued to certain schools. These sections are now developing as a source from which school furniture is supplied.

7. SCHOOL BUILDINGS.

In villages the policy is still in force whereby the inhabitants provide the building and furniture while the Government appoints the teachers and supplies the requisite books and school materials.

A few town schools are provided in a similar manner, but in general the entire cost of town education falls on the Treasury. Many of the buildings are hired houses of varying unsuitability but there is a number of schools built in Turkish times. These buildings are either local educational waqfs or State Domain.

No new school buildings had been provided by the present administration down to the end of 1927-28, but an extension to the Rashidiya school, Jerusalem, was sanctioned, and plans prepared for the erection of a boys' school at Tiberias from municipal funds, to which an advance from general revenues was later approved by the Secretary of State.

The structure of the girls' school built by the Local Education Committee at Tulkarem proved faulty and alterations were required. It is hoped that this new building will be ready for occupation at the beginning of the second term of the session 1928-29.

The municipalities of Ramleh and Baisan were active in raising funds for the construction of a girls' and a boys' school. Both these buildings are in process of construction and will be ready for occupation early in 1929.

8. BOOKS AND SCHOOL MATERIALS.

These are still provided free to village children and to the poorer children in town schools. Otherwise in general Arabic books are issued on payment. The procedure adopted for English books is different. It is designed to secure variety of reading matter and excellence of format without serious expense to the parent. English books which a pupil requires for more than one year are issued on payment, other books are retained on charge of the school and issued on loan.

9. SCHOOL FURNITURE.

The financial provision under this head was again inadequate. Only a limited supply of blackboards and desks were available for distribution during the year. Many schools however were able to supplement their equipment from funds realised by entertainments.

For the first time a number of dual and single desks of standard pattern were ordered from a firm in England. These desks are both cheaper and stronger than those made locally. A further order has been placed.

10. INSPECTORS AND TEACHERS CONFERENCES.

Inspectors Conferences were held under the chairmanship of the Director or Acting Director of Education three times during the year.

Conferences of town and village teachers were held periodically in various district centres under the chairmanship of the District Inspector of Education or his assistant. At these conferences departmental orders and instructions were explained and lectures on methods of teaching, discipline and hygiene were given. Twenty-four such conferences were held during the year.

A Conference of Headmasters of Secondary Boys' Schools was held in July under the chairmanship of the Principal of the Government Arab College. The conference which was attended by the ten Headmasters of Secondary Schools and by the Headquarters and District Inspectors lasted five days with morning and afternoon sessions. Various matters of importance connected with school management, discipline and the theory of teaching were discussed. The resolutions of the conference were generally approved by the Department and should, when assimilated and put into practice by teachers, prove beneficial.

11. DISCIPLINE.

A strike of school boys was organised at Hebron in April by persons outside the school as a protest against the International Mission Conference held in Jerusalem. The strike was settled without difficulty.

One student at the Government Arab College was expelled during the year for grave insubordination and two were removed for unsatisfactory work or behaviour.

12. TEACHERS' EXCURSIONS.

During the month of April a party of Headmasters and Assistant Headmasters from the larger Government schools returned the visit paid to Palestine by a number of Egyptian teachers in 1926.

The programme of the visit was arranged by the Egyptian Ministry of Education. The party was liberally entertained by the Ministry, was shown the more important schools and institutions in Cairo, and visited the principal places of interest.

During the 'Id al-Adha a party composed of teachers and pupils of the Jaffa Secondary Boys' School visited Trans-Jordan. The programme of the visit was arranged by the Director of Education, Trans-Jordan.

13. BAZAARS AND PERFORMANCES.

The income realized from Bazaars held in girls schools amounted to LP.101.644 mils while the revenue from dramatic performances or other entertainments in boys' schools amounted to LP.313.771 mils. These sums were deposited in the local treasuries to the credit of the schools concerned.

14. EDUCATION COMMITTEES.

The local education committees at Nablus and Tulkarem continued to function effectively in cooperation with the Department. The Jaffa committee, owing to difficulties concerning the disposal of Waqf funds, has temporarily ceased its activities.

15. JEWISH SCHOOLS.

A. THE ZIONIST PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM.

During the year under review the Zionist Department has been faced with serious financial and administrative difficulties. In view of the increase in the Government grant to LE.20,000 and expected reductions in Zionist revenues, the Zionist Congress of August, 1927, curtailed its contributions to the education budget by LP.21,600 as compared with the previous year, but took no steps to secure economies in expenditure or increases in other items of revenue which might allow a normal expansion of the school system. A special sum was voted by Congress to pay off the arrears of teachers' salaries.

The date at which the Congress met was shortly before the end of the Zionist financial year, and, therefore, since the budget estimates prepared in Palestine were not passed by the Congress unaltered, serious difficulties were caused to the Palestine Zionist Executive.

In respect of education the necessity for economies on the estimated expenditure and for the development of new sources of revenue in Palestine to compensate, at least in part, the reduction made in the subvention of the Keren ha-Yesod, required the drafting of a new budget before estimated revenue and expenditure could be made to balance. The opening of the schools was thereby delayed for five or six weeks.

Various economies in expenditure had been recommended by the Department to the Executive in April, 1927, but were not fully considered by the Executive until the reduction in the grant from the Keren ha-Yesod was made. The Executive then found it impracticable to introduce them in toto. Some of the proposed reductions were, however, made, and expenditure was curtailed in other directions. Three institutions ceased to be maintained by the Palestine Zionist Executive and eighteen teaching posts were abolished. The Executive held that the terms of its agreement with teachers prevented further economies in the teaching staff. The number of lesson periods which had previously been curtailed was further reduced. The lesson-time thereby became inadequate.

The economies made, as against the budget of 1926-27, amounted to LP.11,678.

On the revenue side there were increases over the previous year in the Government grant and by a donation from Baron Rothschild, and the Executive estimated for increased revenues from school fees and local contributions.

The actual revenue received in respect of the year under review amounted at the end of November, 1928, to LP.99,987 as against an estimate of LP.110,912, thus leaving a deficit of LP.10,925. The deficit on the year's working was increased by the diversion of revenue to the payment of arrears of salaries, although, as stated above, a special fund had been voted to this purpose apart from the education estimates of 1927-8.

Nevertheless, in spite of all financial and administrative difficulties, the structure of the Zionist educational system was maintained essentially unimpaired, though with a somewhat serious loss of efficiency. Great credit is due to the teachers who continued to work when their salaries were many months in arrears.

Dr. Lurie, Director of the Zionist Department of Education, resigned his post. No successor was appointed, but Miss H. Szold, member of the Palestine Zionist Executive, assumed the usual administrative duties of the Director.

The administrative reforms, put forward by the Department as a condition of the grant-in-aid, have not yet been implemented by the Executive, which is hampered both by its dependence upon the biennial Congress and the Greater Actions' Committee and by the conservative attitude of teachers. The authority of the Zionist Directorate as against the Congress, the Board of Education (Va'ad ha-Hinnukh) and the Teachers' Association is insufficiently strong, and this defect continues to be an obstacle to economy and efficiency. Some improvements have been effected by the personal energy of Miss Szold and the Executive, but the system remains radically faulty.

The following table taken from the 1927-28 report of the Education Department of the Palestine Zionist Executive shows the number of Zionist schools and their pupils arranged according to categories and grades:—

Thirty-seven schools were inspected by officers of the Department and reported upon. Copies of these reports were in most cases, transmitted to the Zionist Department of Education.

Owing to financial stringency in the past, a large number of the elementary schools are poorly equipped, and suitable educational apparatus is insufficient. Larger provision has, however, now been made in the budget for 1928-29 for school equipment and apparatus.

For financial considerations, and also with a view to avoid duplication of function, it appeared desirable to reorganise the four teachers' colleges and secondary schools. As a first step to reform, the Zionist Executive renounced financial responsibility for the lowest class in all the existing training colleges, and, in the Jerusalem Gymnasium, for the elementary section of which the work can be carried out in the elementary schools.

The construction of the building of the Hebrew Men's Training College and the Hebrew Gymnasium, both at Jerusalem, is nearing completion.

At the Reali school, Haifa, an eighth class was added; it is mainly engaged in post-matriculation work.

Except for the Tahkemoni Reali School at Tel-Aviv, a school under category "c" (see above), no secondary Zionist school has as yet officially entered candidates for the Palestine Matriculation Examination. The desirability of entering pupils for external examinations is now receiving the attention of the authorities concerned.

B. OTHER JEWISH SCHOOLS.

The Anglo-Jewish Association maintains the Evelina de Rothschild Girls' School at Jerusalem. Hebrew and English are the languages of instruction in the lower classes and Hebrew alone in the secondary section, which has 27 pupils of whom 13 are preparing for the Palestine Matriculation.

The Alliance Israelite Universelle has a boys' school and a girls' school at Jerusalem, and mixed schools at Tel-Aviv, Haifa, Tiberias and Safad. In these schools Hebrew and French are the languages of instruction whilst, in addition, Arabic and English are taught as foreign languages. Some progress is noticeable in most of these schools, but no comprehensive efforts have yet been made to bring them into line with the new educational conditions which have prevailed since the war. It is regrettable that the boys are taught no handwork, and that in most of these schools furniture and equipment are inadequate. In the technical school at Jerusalem, to which a boarding section is attached, weaving, carpentry and cabinet making and metal work in copper and iron, are taught. The Agricultural School at Miqve-Israel, also under the Alliance Israelite Universelle, continues to flourish. It has 186 boarders including one Moslem.

The Women's Zionist Organisation maintains an agricultural school at Nahalal and a domestic science school at Tel-Aviv, with 60 and 30 girls respectively.

Under pressure from the Departments of Education and of Health, sanitation has been improved in many of the Talmud Toras and Yeshivas. In most of these institutions only religious education is imparted, the medium of instruction being Yiddish, Ladino (Spanish jargon) or Arabic, in Ashkenazic, Sephardic and Yemenite institutions respectively. In certain Talmud Toras, especially those of the Agudat Israel Association and the 'Etz Hayim Groups, Hebrew grammar, arithmetic and other secular subjects are also taught, mainly through the medium of Hebrew.

The mixed boarding schools at the "Childrens' villages" of Meir Shfeya (Junior Hadassa), Giv'at ha-Moreh (Committee of South-Africa Jews), and Ben-Shemen (Committee of German Jews), in all of which the majority of pupils are orphans, combine agricultural training with a general education and instruction in domestic science.

A private girls school, imparting general education and instruction in domestic science, has been opened in Jerusalem.

At Petah-Tiqva and Rishon-le-Zion, the two largest Jewish Colonies, central schools affording a three years' secondary course, are maintained mainly by private enterprise. The former school proposes to enter selected candidates for the Palestine Matriculation Examination in 1929.

The Hebrew Technical Institute at Haifa, which is attended by 96 day students and 60 evening students, has this year reached its full development. Seventeen students have completed their course and have sat for the final examination.

C. HEBREW TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Hebrew Teachers' Association has a membership of 576 teachers, of whom 538 are employed in Zionist schools and 38 in other Jewish schools. This Association maintains (1) a pension fund to which the members contribute 2% of their salary, and their employers 1% thereof; (2) a life insurance fund; and (3) a loans' fund. The Association publishes a fortnightly organ, called "Hed ha-Hinnukh", in which professional and educational matters are discussed. Under its auspices a children's magazine and scholastic and educational works are published.

16. MOSLEM SCHOOLS.

The Supreme Moslem Council has taken over control of the Najah private school at Nablus. This is an elementary and secondary school with accommodation for boarders. The languages of instruction are Arabic and English. Special attention is given to preparation for the Freshman class of the American University at Beirut. There is no fourth secondary class. The Rawdat al-Ma'aref, a similar institution at Jerusalem, has improved its buildings. Both these schools attract pupils able to pay fees.

The Moslem Orphanage continues to do good work as a charitable institution affording instruction in various crafts.

The Supreme Moslem Council maintains also a few day schools open to the poorer classes. Of these one is a girls' school.

The Supreme Moslem Council in 1927, sent two girls for training as teachers at Helwan under the Egyptian Ministry of Education and in October, 1928, an examination was held by the Helwan Training College for the selection of further candidates presented by the Supreme Moslem Council. All candidates, however, failed to reach the necessary standard.

The number of private kuttabs is increasing, but the education provided in them is generally of low quality.

17. CHRISTIAN SCHOOLS.

No developments of importance occurred in the various schools maintained by Palestinian Christian communities.

The independent National School for girls at Bir-Zait was well reported on during the year. The institution is co-educational. Girls are admitted as boarders and boys as day pupils.

The financial position of the National Schools at Ramallah has become precarious, and, in spite of increased assistance rendered by Government in various ways, their continued existence is doubtful.

18. FOREIGN SCHOOLS.

During the year under review two branches of the Syrian Orphanage (under Evangelischer Verein für das Syrische Weisenhaus of Cologne) were opened at Nazareth and Bir-Salem respectively.

After 50 years of work, Pastor Theodor Schneller, Director of the Syrian Orphanage, retired. He was succeeded by his son Dr. Hermann Schneller.

The foundation stone of the new building of the English High School for girls at Haifa was laid by his Excellency the Officer Administering the Government.

In September, 1928, an independent English day school was opened in the Greek Colony, Jerusalem, for the benefit of English speaking children.

The Bible Training Institutes for boys and girls under the Christian and Missionary Alliance were moved from 'Ain Karem to Bait Jala.

19. KADOORIE BEQUEST.

It is hoped that the Arab Agricultural School at Tulkarem, now in course of erection, will be opened in 1930.

A suitable site at 'Arab S'beih at the foot of Mount Tabor has been selected for the Jewish Agricultural School. As soon as the proposed 'Afuleh-Mesha road is constructed the initial building operations will be facilitated.

20. REGISTRATION OF NON-GOVERNMENT SCHOOLS AND OPENING OF NEW SCHOOLS.

The registration of existing schools which had not yet completed the necessary formalities continued during the year. Adequate particulars have now been obtained of most schools except those of the Latin Patriarchate.

The sanitary and hygienic conditions of which the fulfilment is a prerequisite of registration, were revised by the Department of Health after consultation with the Department of Education.

During the year 71 applications were received for permission to open schools—48 from Moslems, 18 from Jews and 5 from Christians. Ten of these applications were rejected on the ground that the premises of the proposed schools were unsuitable for school purposes. Applicants did not always make use of the permission granted to them, so that the difference between the number of applications and the number of rejections does not necessarily represent the number of schools actually opened during the year.

Forty-two schools were registered definitely and nine temporarily until the expiry of the lease or other specified period.

The District Inspectors of Education inspected during the year 62 non-Government schools—15 Moslem, 25 Jewish and 22 Christian. Headquarters Inspectors visited 45 schools—2 Moslem, 33 Jewish and 10 Christian.

At the instance of the Department of Health and on the recommendation of the Department of Education, the District authorities closed 27 insanitary schools, of which 8 have effected improvements and have since been allowed to reopen.

During the year 43 schools were closed by their own authorities—15 Moslem, 18 Jewish and 10 Christian—chiefly owing to lack of funds. Two of the Christian schools have since been reopened.

21. GRANTS-IN-AID.

A block money-grant of £P.19,936.205 was allotted to the Palestine Zionist Executive for its schools on special conditions of which all have not yet been fulfilled. In addition, the Zionist and other Jewish schools now receive the services of two specially appointed Jewish inspectors.

Grants-in-aid totalling £P.2,408.600 were distributed to non-Government schools, other than Zionist, upon their average attendance at a per capita rate of 200 mils and 500 mils per elementary and secondary pupil respectively. The grants were allotted as follows:—

Community	No. of Schools	Number of Pupils		Grant £P.
		Elementary	Secondary
Moslem	15	1714	46	365.800
Jewish (not under Palestine Zionist Executive)	17	3277	581	945.900
Christian	67	4274	484	1096.900
Total:	99	9265	1111	2408.600

In addition a block grant-in-aid of £P.100 was assigned to each of the following institutions on condition of providing facilities for post-matriculation work:—

The Jerusalem Men's College, Jerusalem.

The Jerusalem Girls' College, Jerusalem.

The Scot's Boys' College, Safad.

35 of the above schools (excluding Zionist schools) were inspected by officers of the Department.

22. HEALTH AND HYGIENE.

The health of pupils in Government schools during the year was, on the whole, good. A few local outbreaks of measles and mumps necessitated the temporary closure of certain schools. The neighbourhood of Lake Huleh offers a special problem owing to the prevalence of malaria which necessitates either the retention of infected teachers in the unhealthy zone or the subjection of healthy teachers in relays to certain infection.

The Department of Health continued the sanitary and medical inspection of all Government schools. Trachoma treatment was regularly carried out by officers of the Health Department and members of the teaching staff. Every Government school, town or village, is provided with drugs and appliances for the treatment of trachoma.

During the year three deaths occurred in the teaching staff.

Non-Government schools are inspected either by a Government Medical Officer of Health or by arrangements with a private practitioner.

The Hadassah Medical Organisation remains responsible for the Health service of all schools under the Zionist Executive and of most Jewish schools, but sanitary inspections are carried out by the Government Department of Health.

23. ARBOR DAY.

On Arbor Day held in February, upwards of 12,500 trees were planted by pupils of Government schools in Government school gardens. These trees were supplied free of cost by the Department of Agriculture.

The following list shows the number of trees planted annually since 1922:—

Year	No. of trees.
1922	10079
1923	10340
1924	11935
1925	18348
1926	17462
1927	10827
1928	12500

Through the courtesy of the Director of Agriculture, one of the Government school teachers, a graduate of the American University of Beirut, was given in the summer of 1928 a special course in practical agriculture, with a view to his employment as supervisor of school gardens.

24. SOCIETY FOR PREVENTION OF CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

Many teachers and pupils in Government Schools continue to contribute small sums to the society under local arrangements.

25. THE HEBREW UNIVERSITY.

The buildings which were seriously damaged by the earthquake in July, 1927, were repaired and enlarged, and the building of the Institute of Mathematics completed. The library building is nearing completion, and the Institute of Physics is now under construction.

During the year the number of "Regular" students increased from 69 in 1926-27 to 138. There were also 73 "auditors".

The Board of Governors has decided to organise the Institutes of Jewish and Oriental Studies into a Faculty of Arts which will have powers to confer academic degrees and will include also undergraduate courses in philosophy, history, and literature. It is proposed to establish a Faculty of Science in the near future.

Distinguished scholars from abroad conducted courses at the Institutes of Jewish studies and Mathematics. At the latter Institute "regular" students were admitted for the first time. At the Institute of Oriental Studies a preparatory class was opened at which lectures are given on Arabic and the History of Islam.

New laboratories were added to the Institute of the Natural History of Palestine and arrangements are now being made for the laying out of a botanical garden. The University Library continues to develop and now contains about 200,000 volumes.

26. PUBLIC EXAMINATIONS.

A. PALESTINIAN.

(I) PALESTINE BOARD OF HIGHER STUDIES.

For the Matriculation Examination, 1928, there were 106 entries, 77 presented by schools and 29 "unattached", as compared with 111 in 1927. Only 98 candidates reported at the beginning of the examination. 25 candidates offered the examination through English, 29 through Arabic, and 44 through Hebrew. Some of the schools presenting candidates did very creditably. On the other hand, "unattached" candidates (in which category those entered by an evening school may be included) continue to be almost uniformly unsuccessful.

TABLE OF ENTRIES AND RESULTS.

S c h o o l	No. of applicants	No. examined	Medium of examination	No. passed	Percentage (approx.)
Jerusalem Men's College	11	11	9 English 2 Arabic	5	45
Government Arab College	24	24	Arabic	12	50
Opera Cardinal Ferrari College, Jerusalem.	7	7	English	Nil	Nil
Scots College, Safad. .	9	9	8 English 1 Hebrew	5	55
Reali Tahkemoni Tchool, Tel-Aviv.	11	11	Hebrew	8	72
Tushia Evening School, Tel-Aviv.	15	14	Hebrew	Nil	Nil
Unattached.	1	1	English	Nil	Nil
"	5	1	Arabic	1	100
"	21	18	Hebrew	1	5

Almost without exception candidates from the Mission schools continue to select English as the medium of examination, while Jewish and Government (Arab) schools choose their respective vernacular languages.

The Palestine Matriculation Examination Certificate is now accepted by the Northern Universities of England as exempting under certain conditions from their own matriculation, and by the University of London as admitting to its modified matriculation examination under Statute 116.

The Intermediate Examination for the Palestine Arts and Science Diploma was held for the second time in July, 1928. This examination is for the present conducted through the medium of English only. The results were as follows: —

	Number examined	Number passed
Jerusalem Men's College	3	—
Jerusalem Girls' College	2	1

A candidate from each school was referred in one subject.

(II) LANGUAGE EXAMINATIONS FOR GOVERNMENT OFFICERS.

The annual Arabic and Hebrew examinations for Government officers were held in March. At the elementary examination there were six candidates in Arabic and three in Hebrew. Four passed in Arabic, and all three in Hebrew.

In the advanced Hebrew examination one sat and passed. There were no candidates for the Advanced Arabic Examination.

Two Arabic language examinations for the British Section of Police were held in March and October. Of the eighteen candidates who entered their names in March, fifteen passed. Two failed in the examination, while one did not present himself. In October, out of eight who reported, six satisfied the examiners.

(III) TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS.

Teachers' examinations under the revised regulations were held for the second time in July. There were no candidates for the teachers' higher certificate. For the lower certificate, 14 candidates entered of whom only 10 presented themselves. Of these, two passed in Part I of the examination, i.e. Practical and Theoretical Pedagogy, and only one in Part II, i.e. General Subjects.

One candidate who had previously satisfied part of the requirements in Pedagogy and who completed it in 1928 was awarded the Teachers' Lower Certificate.

B. FOREIGN.

The Department continued to supervise examinations held at Jerusalem on behalf of the University of London and other foreign institutions.

Most of the candidates for these examinations came from Egypt.

The following table gives a summary of the results: —

University or Board	Examination	No. of candidates
		Examined	Passed
London University	Matriculation	13	6
" "	Intermediate Arts	1	Nil
" "	Intermediate Science	5	3
" "	Final B. A.	1	Nil

London Association of Accountants	Intermediate	1	Nil
" " "	Final	1	Nil
City and Guilds of London Institute	Diploma in Typography	1	1
National Froebel Union of England	Certificate	1	1
Chartered Institute of Secretaries	Final Examination	1	1

The Oxford and Cambridge Joint Examination Board again made arrangements with certain schools in Palestine to take its examinations locally. The following are the results of the examinations in the year under review: —

Name of School	School Certificate		Lower Certificate
	Entered	Passed	Entered	Passed
Jerusalem Girls' College	13	11	—	—
Jerusalem Men's College	11	7	—	—
Haifa English High School for Girls	—	—	7	1

27. SPORTS AND ATHLETICS.

The 8th Annual Sports Meeting of Government Schools was held on 24th May at Jerusalem.

In connection with the Sports, a competition in Physical Training was held on the previous day, and was won by Gaza School. The Inter-District competition was won by Jaffa sub-district for the second year in succession.

FOOTBALL.

Association football is increasingly popular in Government schools, and various "foreign" matches were arranged during the year between schools and between districts. The full programme of fixtures for the Municipal Cup could not be carried out during the season 1927-28 and the cup therefore remains with the Education Department, the winners in 1926-27.

A school Football League has recently been formed in the Jerusalem District and is being well supported. The League competition is open to all local Colleges and Schools. The Deedes Cup for which there has been no recent competition has been transferred with the consent of the donor to the School League.

PHYSICAL TRAINING.

The standard of physical training has been much improved since the appointment of a Superintendent in 1927. During August, 1928, two special courses of physical training for teachers, one advanced and one elementary, each lasting about ten days, were organised in Jerusalem. To attend the advanced course twelve candidates, who were already in possession of 2nd class Physical Training Certificates, were selected, including two teachers in the schools of the Supreme Moslem Council. All were awarded the first class certificate. For the elementary course of instruction, the third of its kind, the names of 74 teachers were submitted as desirous of attending, out of which 27 were selected. Of these, 25 candidates, all teachers in Government Schools, were awarded the 2nd class certificate in Physical Training.

INTER-SCHOOL SPORTS.

Twelve Government and non-Government schools from Jerusalem District competed at the fourth Annual Meeting of the Jerusalem Inter-School Sports held in May.

This competition which is the only athletic meeting in which Government and non-Government schools compete is arranged by a committee composed of representatives of the leading schools in the District under the chairmanship of the Director of Education.

The following were the winners of the Challenge Cups: —

1. The Bowman Cup for the school with the largest number of points; St. George's School.
2. The Lady Plumer Challenge Cup for the school winning the highest number of points in senior events; the Hebrew Gymnasium.
3. The Lady Mond Challenge Cup for the school winning the highest number of points in Intermediate events; Rashidiya Government School.
4. The Mathew Cup for the school winning the highest number of points in Junior events; Bakriya Government School.

28. BOY SCOUTS AND GIRL GUIDES.

Three different Scout Organisations are working in Palestine viz: the Baden Powell Scout Association, the Catholic Scout Association and the Hebrew Scout Association.

BADEN POWELL SCOUT ASSOCIATION.

This is the oldest scout association in Palestine. With the growth of the movement it became increasingly apparent that some form of decentralization was essential. The first Local Association to be formed was that of the Northern District which was inaugurated in 1926; early in 1928, those of the Southern District and Jerusalem Division were also formed. In each of these three local associations, the District Commissioner holds the position of Scout Commissioner for his district. In each there is an Executive Committee with a chairman, treasurer and secretary.

Correspondence with Imperial Headquarters is mainly conducted through the County Commissioner; badges are bought by the County Secretary and distributed to the Local Association as required.

A Palestine Scout Council was held for the first time in May, 1928, under the chairmanship of His Excellency the High Commissioner, Chief Scout of Palestine.

District Scout Rallies for the Troops of the Association were held respectively in the three administrative districts under the patronage of His Excellency the High Commissioner. The Rally for the Northern District was held in Haifa on the 5th May. That of the Jerusalem District was held on the 16th June and that of the Southern District in Jaffa on the 22nd June.

A Training Camp for Scouters was held in 'Ain Karem early in the month of September. The camp was in charge of the Deputy Camp Chief. Seven scouters attended the course and, with the exception of one taking a "refresher" course, all were teachers in Government schools. All seven were recommended for part II Certificate of the Wood Badge.

The Association consists mainly of Arab Scouts including Moslem, Greek Orthodox and Protestants.

The following table shows the figures by districts in September, 1928:—

District	No. of Groups	No. of Scouters	No. of Scouts including Rovers and Cubs.
Northern	34	56	901
Southern	10	17	361
Jerusalem	10	14	218
Total:	54	87	1,480

CATHOLIC SCOUT ASSOCIATION.

Catholic Troops remain outside the Baden Powell Association and form a separate unit affiliated to Headquarters at Rome.

JEWISH SCOUTS.

Little progress in scouting has been made among the Jews and the independent Hebrew Scout Association remains upon an unsatisfactory footing.

The "Berit Trumpeldor" Lads Brigade, organised by the Revisionist Party, included by the end of the summer some 650 members in eight different towns or colonies in the country.

GIRL GUIDES.

The Palestine Girl Guides continue to develop. There are at present 16 companies of girl guides with 498 guides and brownies in Palestine located as follows:— 8 companies in Jerusalem, 3 in Jaffa and one each in Bir-Zait, Haifa, Acre, Nazareth and Tiberias.

In addition there are brownie packs in Jerusalem, Bir-Zait, Haifa, Acre, Nazareth, Tiberias and Jaffa. There are 95 more guides and brownies in Palestine this year than in 1927.

29. GENERAL PUBLICATIONS.

Publishers and printers are obliged by law to send to the Department of Education copies of all publications printed in Palestine. It is believed that, with the possible exception of extremist propagandist literature, the law is rigidly enforced. During the year 417 books and pamphlets were received, categorised as follows:—

In Hebrew :

General literature, History, Geography
Biography, etc.	94
Fiction	56
For children	53
Religious	42
School books	21

Total: 417

The publications classified as "political" under the Hebrew and Yiddish languages are mainly pamphlets of small size published by the left wing of the labour movement.

In addition to these books and pamphlets, 54 periodicals were also received. Some of these periodicals are weekly or monthly, and are published more or less regularly, whereas others are irregular in their appearance, whether by nature or by force of circumstance; the "humorous" papers for instance are issued usually in connection with festivals or holy days. These periodicals may be classified as follows:—

In Hebrew:

Political (i.e. organs of political parties)	5
Religious (theological, etc.)	4

This list does not include the daily, semi-weekly, and some weekly newspapers, of which a number are published in Arabic, Hebrew, and English, and of which copies are not sent to the Department.

30. MISCELLANEOUS ACTIVITIES.

The Department is represented on the following boards: —

- (a) Legal Studies.
- (b) Board of Higher Studies.
- (c) Censorship of film and plays.
- (d) Education Committee of the Palestine Zionist Executive.
- (e) Finance Committee of the Zionist Education Department.
- (f) Palestine Children's Aid Society.
- (g) Certification of Auditors.

The Controllor of Permits now requires all Palestinians proceeding to the United Kingdom, who desire to continue their education at British Universities, to be certified as bona fide students by the Department of Education before being granted a visa.

By invitation of the Government of Trans-Jordan, the Assistant Director of Education visited schools at 'Amman and As-Salt in November, 1927, and advised on the teaching of English.

At the request of the Ministry of Education, 'Iraq, five 'Iraqi students who wish to enter English Universities and of whom four are 'Iraq Government scholars were placed in October, 1928, in the Jerusalem Men's College and Scots College Safad, to work for the Palestine Matriculation Examination.

31. THE EDUCATION ORDINANCE.

An Education Ordinance was first published as a Bill on 16th October, 1927, and was republished with amendments on 16th July, 1928. It has not yet become an Act.

The Bill deals with all the school systems of Palestine. It recognises education as falling partly within the functions of municipalities or other local authorities of existing types and legalizes the imposition of an education rate. The general principle of the Bill is that local authorities, according to their means, should provide material while a central technical authority should provide teaching staff.

Provision is made for the establishment of separate authorities for Arabic and Hebrew speaking schools in bilingual areas. The inclusion of denominational schools in the public system at their own desire and with proper safeguards for their religious character is facilitated.

Foreign and other private schools which receive no assistance from public funds are little affected by the Bill. They are subjected as before to sanitary regulations, but in education matters are not liable to administrative interference. They are however required to submit returns, to register particulars of buildings and staff and to permit informative inspection by Government officers.

STATISTICAL TABLES.

INTRODUCTORY NOTE.

With a view to the collection of statistics of more educational significance than was possible in the past, a new and somewhat elaborate form of attendance return was instituted in 1927 and circulated to all schools in Palestine.

The correct rendering of this return appears to have presented difficulties to head-teachers, especially in non-Government schools, and full use could not be made of the figures in the tables prepared for the Report of 1926-27.

In the present Report, figures more complete than those of last year, but still insufficient, are given and further tables are added. The tables cover the entire system of public and private schools in Palestine with the exception only of the few controlled by the Latin Patriarch, who has been unable to provide any relevant information. However, the accuracy of the tables and the conclusion to be drawn from them are not thereby vitally affected.

More important considerations which must be kept in view throughout the study of these tables are that education is not compulsory, that there is no fixed age at which school attendance must begin and that no special institutions can be provided for defective or extremely dull children. The same grades in different schools are not uniform either in median age or in standard, and the grading of children within the class is not always efficiently carried out by teachers. The principles of testing were little understood in Turkish times and tests are still often inadequate in themselves and sometimes carelessly evaluated. Further, neither the importance of age in its relation to mental capacity nor the difference between the backward who have lacked opportunity and the congenitally dull are fully appreciated by all head-teachers; thus clever pupils may be unnecessarily retarded, and pupils of normal ability made to repeat a year for inadequate reasons.

Jews and Christians are less affected than Moslems by the absence of legal compulsion to attend school, and practically all Jews and Christians receive some schooling, though the quality may be poor and the duration short.

In all other respects the above remarks are generally applicable in some degree to Government and non-Government schools and to pupils of all three religions.

In order that the best possible use may be made of the very limited financial provision available, it is important to superannuate dull children and to select the brighter for further education at each successive stage of the curriculum. Both these processes require a high degree of skill and of moral courage in teachers. These qualities are rare, and progressive selection, therefore, still results as much from the natural operation of social conditions and parental pressure as from any systematic application of educational principles. Precise instructions on superannuation and the repetition of classes were issued to Government schools in August, 1928, but difficulties arising from defects enumerated above will continue to affect more particularly the tables showing numbers of pupils by age and class.

Since the printed statistical tables for 1926-27 were not available for detailed comment at the time when the report was presented, some remarks upon them are appended herewith.

The new tables of greatest educational importance were 10 and 24, which showed the distribution of registered pupils by classes in Government and non-Government schools respectively.

Schools and classes are divided into three grades: infant (kindergarten and preparatory), elementary and secondary; but while the length of the elementary and secondary courses is strictly defined that of the infant course is not. The secondary course consists of four years prior to "Matriculation" and is sometimes continued thereafter in higher classes numbered consecutively with the prematriculation classes. The elementary course is defined as of six years prior to the secondary course. The number of infant, kindergarten, or preparatory years varies widely in different systems and even from school to school within one system.

The attendance figures for the infant or preparatory classes, as rendered by head-teachers, cannot yet be distinguished accurately into different years of schooling, but, now that teachers are acquiring some facility in the regular keeping of registers, it is hoped to give more adequate details of the preparatory sections next year, at least for Government schools.

The pupils in infant or preparatory classes in Government schools in 1926-27 numbered 9,498 and in non-Government schools 15,710. In spite of the inadequacy of the returns, it may be taken that, on the average, in Government village schools two years are spent in the preparatory section and in Government town schools somewhat less. In the first class wherefrom regular annual promotions take place, the figures were 4,004 and 5,506 in Government and non-Government schools respectively.

For the reason just given the loss of pupils between the preparatory section and the first year, properly so called, of the elementary course cannot yet be ascertained with precision.

Thereafter the loss is very marked and its implications require careful consideration, which cannot, however, be fully given as yet to the problem, since the number of children repeating the different years is not accurately known.

The number of pupils in Government elementary schools in 1926-27 is summarized as follows:—

Class	Infant Section	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.
Towns	2769	1149	1051	1109	647	517	304
Villages	6729	2855	1729	650	170	48	13
Total:	9498	4004	2780	1759	817	565	317

The comparable figures for the Zionist public system during the same period were:—

Class	Infant Section	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.
Town and Colony Schools	6367	1937	1759	1587	1476	1350	965

The comparative steadiness of the Zionist figures in the progression by classes from the first onwards is no doubt due partly to the influx of child immigrants of various ages who have already undergone schooling in their countries of origin, but more largely to the general esteem of education among the Jews which operates as a substitute for compulsion by law.

No distinction between town and village schools in the Jewish system would have great significance, but in the Government (Arabic public) system the distinction is vital owing to the prevalence of social conditions widely different in town and village.

It will be observed above that the curve from the first to the third class inclusive is comparatively flat in Government town schools, but in village schools descends very rapidly and in the sixth class almost reaches zero.

For the year of the present report (1927-28) the number of pupils in Government elementary schools is summarized as follows:—

Class	Infant Section	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.
Towns	3391	1510	959	895	717	494	350
Villages	7174	2933	1584	641	192	34	—
Total:	10565	4443	2543	1536	909	528	350

The corresponding figures for the Zionist public system during the year 1927-28 were:-

Class	Infant Section	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.
Towns	4381	1687	1289	1118	978	853	866
Colonies	2193	492	424	374	300	381	317
Total:	6574	2179	1713	1492	1278	1234	1183

The curves for 1927-28 are very similar to those for 1926-27.

If the uncertain numbers of pupils in Government schools who repeat different years be neglected, a comparison of the attendance returns for 1926-27 with those of 1927-28 would show that the following percentages of pupils in each class, as it stood in July, 1927, left school before July, 1928. The Preparatory sections are excluded for reasons already given:

Town Schools.

Class	Elementary						Secondary
	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.	I.	II.
%	16%	14%	35%	23%	32%	42%	25%	45%

Village Schools.

Class:	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.
%	44%	63%	70%	80%	100%

If the percentages of loss remain constant over a period of years, it will follow that of every 100 children who complete the first elementary class in a town school the following number will complete each succeeding class to the end of the first secondary cycle, at which point rigid selection by Headquarters for the Government Arab College eliminates most of the survivors in all schools, except at Jaffa where a 3rd class exists:

Class:	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.	I.	II.
	100	84	72	47	36	24	14	10

In figures for Government schools which are expected to be available at the end of the school year 1928-29, it will be possible to eliminate from this calculation pupils who have repeated one or more years.

The above data are not sufficient for the formation of definite conclusions. In village schools the fall of the curve would certainly be lessened in some degree if financial provision were made for better buildings, for increased staff and for teachers able to attract and retain pupils in higher elementary classes, but, in general, there is reason to suppose that economic and social conditions are the predominant cause for the withdrawal of pupils.

There is already some ground for fearing that with many village children the educational process is continued for so short a time as to have little value, and important considerations of policy are therefore involved in the correct appreciation of the statistics now beginning to be available. The principal decision to be taken in this connection is how far the limited financial resources of the Department are to be devoted to the intensive improvement and development of the stronger village schools up to a fixed limit of curriculum and how far to the continuance of support and its extension in villages where the numbers and the period of attendance do not reach the economic and educational minimum.

In respect of the town schools the question of policy is more purely educational and affects mainly the division of the curriculum into more or less self-contained cycles. The existing syllabus was devised with this view.

In the present report it has become possible for the first time to show the distribution of children by age in all classes (see Tables 9, 25-28). In the following remarks only boys in Government town schools are considered since they offer some approach to the normal conditions that can be expected in a voluntary educational system. Nevertheless even here it would be premature, in view of the uncertainty of the age figures, to draw any but general and provisional conclusions.

The median age of classes is high and this is due not only to the delay of parents in sending their children to school but also to the lack of accommodation. A child whose name is entered at the proper age may often be compelled to wait a year before he can be accepted.

The number of children of very high or low age in any class is naturally small; but, when these small numbers, however insignificant, are included in the consolidated return for the whole country, the range is not less than eight years in any class and rises in the 3rd class to eleven years.

If at each end of the range all numbers of children less than 5% of the class total be excluded, the range of ages is still somewhat wide.

The approximate median ages of boys in town elementary classes 1 to 6 are as follows: —

Class.	1.	2.	3.	4.	5.	6.
Median age	10	12	13	14	14½	15½

These are also roughly the average ages of the classes.

The distribution of boys between the different ages does not follow the law of probability and appears to have insufficient relation to natural variations of capacity. However, in most classes about 50% of the pupils are included within a range of two years and if these children be centred at one point as that of highest frequency a more normal distribution results. An important factor in the curve would therefore appear to be the difference in age of entry which is liable to occur in a voluntary system.

In future reports it is hoped that the consideration of these figures may be developed and extended to non-Government schools.
